

Goh Teck Leong 吴德隆

Teck Leong, more popularly known as Delong, started his photography journey as a hobbyist photographer in the early 90s during the film era, but got into it seriously when the digital camera became affordable in 2004.

He started taking photography courses at The Photographic Society of Singapore (PSS) and SAFRA Photographic Club (SAFRAPC) to improve his photography skills and learnt the difference genres from Indoor/ Outdoor Portrait, Landscapes, Macro, Night Photography and more.

Delong takes part in Salons and local photography contests to improve his skills and knowledge. He was awarded the PSS service Distinction (ESPSS) award in recognition of his contribution to PSS. He was also awarded Distinctions such as the Associateship (A.SAFRAPC) and Photo-Art Association of Singapore (APAS).

The greatest award that he received was from a contest organized by Singapore Federation of Chinese Clan Association (SFCCA) where he won the first prize in the Multi Culture section.

In 2022, Delong was part of a team from PSS who photographed the winners of The President's Volunteerism & Philanthropy Awards, and his photos were exhibited at The Istana.

Delong's photos have been exhibited in Singapore and the Kuala Lumpur Photography Festival. His photographs were also showcased in The Magic of Black & White Exhibition in 2023.

Delong is an engineer by profession and during his leisure time, he likes to go around photographing scenes of people in their everyday life, landscapes and capturing memories of places that will soon be demolished before they disappear forever.
