

Sim Pheng Kiong Wilson

Wilson has been handling cameras for a long time. His photography skills had been self-taught. Through trials and errors he found his own unique way of capturing moments.

To further his passion more professionally, he had attended the Digital Photography Techniques course by Singapore University of Social Science (SUSS) in 2017.

Wilson joined The Photographic Society of Singapore as a member in 2019 and from there his creativity has been advancing. His photo has been showcased in The Magic of Black & White Exhibition in 2023.

He is still on the journey of exploring and learning, to discover ways to best capture every moment in its entirety.
