Veronica's photography journey started when she had an online webpage that sold homemade cakes and she wanted to shoot better images to post on Facebook.

She then found a new passion in birding instead. As such, she signed up for a 6 months course with NAFA on basic photography. It turned out to be more an intermediate course and she struggled through it without much improvement to her photography.

Veronica joined The Photographic Society of Singapore (PSS) in 2017 and signed up for courses such as Photoshop, Food and Product Photography and Black & White Fine Art Architecture.

To further increase her skills, Veronica joined various workshops of which birding was one of them and she has been hooked ever since.

She explored and ventured into other photography genres such as indoor lighting, architecture, portrait and sports but her main focus would still be wildlife and birding.

She also participated in various competitions both locally and internationally, and had won several awards ranging from Gold to Acceptance awards. Her photographs were also showcased in The Magic of Black & White Exhibition in 2023.

Veronica has travelled extensively through South-East Asia and around the world to places like Hokkaido both in summer and in winter, India, Kruger National Park South Africa, United Kingdom, Papua Indonesia, Costa Rica and has planned many more trips ahead to continue her photography journey
